

7.2 Provide Effective Community Communications

15 Points

Objective

Reach all members of your community through strategic communication.

What to Do

All elements must be completed to receive credit.

1. Inventory existing municipal communication channels and assess their effectiveness.

Submit: A copy of your communications inventory.

2. Engage community stakeholders in the process of developing a municipal communications strategy to target audiences across your community. Outline how, when, and where you will make information publicly available. Describe how you will create and manage an accessible website and social media pages, an easily updatable community events calendar, and consider establishing a two-way communication channel for citizens to post content. Describe what type of information you will convey via printed or electronic brochures and booklets and why this is the best channel for such information.

Submit: A copy of your communications strategy.

3. Implement your municipal communications strategy.

Submit: Proof of implementation, such as examples and hyperlinks.

Credit for Past Action

Why This Matters

Open communications are essential to making your local government inclusive. Effective community communications channels facilitate government transparency, build trust within your municipality, and create cohesion between and among community members. Information should be accessible to all, and should respond to changing demographics within a community.

Traditional communications channels send the stream of information in one direction: from the person or organization in power to the citizens. Using newer forms of media, you can foster a two-way flow of information that connects your municipality with citizens "where they are," and with the type of media available to them.

Benefits

By creating open communications channels, you will enable your citizens to stay abreast of local initiatives, policy developments, and events.

Making communications a two-way street will empower all residents in your community to speak their minds and participate in local government at whatever level is comfortable for them.
