What to Do

1. Develop, adopt (through municipal governing body and/or board of education), and publicly share a statement on your community's shared vision for equity. Your statement should be unique to your town, written through a lens that addresses both the town's specific history with inequity/injustice and the current challenges being faced. You should consider current municipal processes that promote inclusion and cohesion, and ensure adequate representation of all community members. (20 points)

   You must include the following concepts within your town's equity statement or corresponding plans:

   - Recognition of a need for systemwide change, historic and current weaknesses in systems in place, and the need for a more equitable path going forward;
   - Your town's commitment to protecting current and future residents, with special consideration for marginalized communities; and
   - A vision for future municipal processes that will address past and current inequities.

   Forming a committee to address equity issues is insufficient on its own to earn points under this Action.

   Submit: Your town's equity statement, the date it was adopted by the municipal governing body or board of education, and documentation of the equity statement's adoption (such as meeting minutes, a copy of the municipal zoning regulations with relevant portions highlighted, a link to municipal ordinances, or similar verification).

Why This Matters

Building inclusive and equitable communities is a process that recognizes the intrinsic value of each member of a community and the need to connect; and is achieved when social, economic, and political opportunities are not predicted based upon a person's race, gender, age, or sexual identity. To build communities that embrace equity, Sustainable CT cities and towns will create a table where diverse relationships are welcomed and valued, where decisions are made collectively, and where success will be measured by having a variety of perspectives and experiences represented. Sustainable CT encourages cities and towns to include marginalized voices in their decision-making processes, and to specifically identify barriers to access for marginalized residents in order to identify and respond to community priorities.
